On April 24, 1908, at around 4:10 PM the City of Albertville was virtually wiped out by a tornado that killed 15 people. It would become known as the "Great Cyclone of 1908".

Exactly 102 years to the day Albertville was again struck by another tornado. This time, the tornado touched down at approximately 10:25 PM and created much devastation to the town that had been demolished by a tornado so many years ago.

Closing Assistant Manager Joanna Short was working at the Albertville BK, along with 4 team members. "It was a slow night. We had about 10 customers in the dining room and it began to rain very hard", she said. Area Supervisor James Boyd had been watching the weather most of the day and called the restaurant to let them know a tornado warning had been issued.

Joanna said she locked the doors when the power went out and got everyone prepared to go to the back of the restaurant. When James called back to let them know a tornado had touched down about a half a mile from the restaurant she knew all that could be done was to secure the restaurant and lock up. "I felt so bad leaving and not being able to do a proper close", she said.

The next morning Joanna came back to finish and stayed to help Opening Assistant Manager Katherine Mooreland, Restaurant General Manager Jennifer Robertson, and James. We were immediately swamped as soon as the doors opened", Joanna said.

With everyone's help, the restaurant re-opened at 7:30 AM and responded to the needs of the Albertville community. Pans after pans of biscuits were baked and donated. Large orders for 200 sausage biscuits were not uncommon over the next few days. Additionally, large orders of hamburgers, double cheeseburgers, and Whopper® sandwiches were called in. None were turned away. Tyson Foods donated chicken tenders that were prepared and cooked.

Wesfam also donated a large quantity of gift cards to be given out to residents who had been temporarily displaced or completely lost their homes from the hard hit areas. Albertville Assistant Manager Angela Kilgo spent time helping out a prior employee pack and move due to her roof collapsing.

Jennifer praised the Albertville team spirit. "Everyone worked together and did their very best to serve customers quickly and to help out the community. We feel so fortunate that we are able to provide a service to all of the volunteers, utility workers and people who were left homeless. Our employees really worked hard to fill the large orders and continue to serve our other customers. Our Albertville team is so awesome and we really appreciate how hard they work not just in a time of hardship but everyday", she said.
